Guidelines for Anti Money Laundering And Know Your Customer (KYC) Norms

1. Appointment of Principal Officer:

Members have to designate a senior management officer as Principal Officer. The Principal Officer shall be located at the head/corporate office and shall be responsible for monitoring and reporting of all transactions and sharing of information as required under the law. The Principal Officer will maintain close liaison with enforcement agencies, banks and any other institution which are involved in the fight against money laundering and combating financing of terrorism. The name, designation and addresses (including e-mail addresses) of the 'Principal Officer' may be intimated to the Office of the Director-FIU, 6th Floor, Hotel Samrat, Chanakyapuri, New Delhi - 110021, on an immediate basis, with a copy to the Asst. Vice President, Compliance Department, NCDEX.

2. FMC's basic objective is that Members have adequate controls and procedures in place so that they know the customers with whom they are dealing. Adequate due diligence on new and existing customers is a key part of these controls. The Customer Due Diligence would include the following aspects:

- a. Customer acceptance policy
- b. Customer identification
- c. Monitoring of transactions
- d. Tracking and reporting suspicious transactions

a. Customer Acceptance Policy

2.1 Members should develop clear customer acceptance policies and procedures, including a description of the types of customers that are likely to pose a higher than normal risk to them. In preparing such policies factors such as customers' background, origin, public position, related accounts, business activities or other risk indicators should be considered. The members should develop graduated customer acceptance policies and procedures that require more extensive due diligence for higher risk customers. For example, the policies may require the fundamental account-opening requirements for a working individual with a small CDM transaction. It is, however, important that the customer acceptance policy is not so restrictive that it results in a denial of access to the market participants, especially the targeted beneficiaries like farmers. On the other hand, quite extensive due diligence would be essential for an individual with a high net worth whose source of funds is unclear. Decisions to enter into business relationships with high risk customers, such as politically exposed persons, should be taken exclusively at senior management level.

b. Customer Identification

2.2 Customer identification is an essential element of KYC standards. A customer would include the person or entity that maintains an account with the Member or those on whose behalf an account is maintained (i.e., beneficial owners). Members should undertake the following processes for proper identification of customers:

NCDEX ID: 00427 FMC Reg. No.: NCDEX/TCM/PROP/0374 | MCX ID: 35835 FMC Reg. No.: MCX/TCM/PROP/0428

- i) Identifying the customer and verifying that customer's identity using reliable, independent source documents;
- ii) Identifying the beneficial owner, and taking reasonable measures to verify the identity of the beneficial owner such that the Member is satisfied that it knows who the beneficial owner is;
- iii) In case of high value of transactions, obtaining information on the purpose and intended nature of the business relationship;
- iv) Conducting ongoing due diligence on the business relationship and scrutiny of transactions undertaken throughout the course of that relationship to ensure that the transactions being conducted are consistent with the Member's knowledge of the customer, their business profile and risk profile, including, where necessary, the source of funds.

Indicative list of documents that may be obtained from the customers is enclosed at Annexure I.

2.3 It is felt that in some specific cases, more rigorous identification procedures should be put in place. The following list is indicative, and the Member can have advanced process for the customer which it feels has high risk profile. Such high risk customers would include the following, but may not be restricted to depending on other customers having high risks associated to them:

- Companies having close family shareholdings or beneficial ownership
- Non-face-to-face clients
- Non resident clients
- High networth clients,
- Trusts, Charities, NGOs and organizations receiving donations
- Politically exposed persons (PEP) of foreign origin
- Clients in high risk countries (where existence / effectiveness of money laundering controls is suspect, where there is unusual banking secrecy, countries active in narcotics production, countries which are perceived to be sponsors of international terrorism, offshore financial centers, tax havens, countries where fraud is highly prevalent)
- Clients with dubious reputation as per public information available.

2.4 The above mentioned list is only illustrative and the Members should exercise independent judgment to ascertain whether new clients should be classified for more rigorous identification.

c. Monitoring of Transactions

2.5 The Member should put in place a mechanism to monitor the transactions being conducted through it, for ensuring effectiveness of the Anti Money Laundering procedures. For this, the Member should keep a tab on the transaction profile of the clients. This would help them in identifying the abnormal trade profile of the suspected clients.

2.6 The Member should pay attention to all complex, unusually large transactions / patterns which appear to have no financial or commercial justification. Very high account turnover, inconsistent with the size of the balance, may indicate that funds are being "routed/ washed" through the account. Examples of suspicious activities can be very helpful to the Member and should be included as part of a jurisdiction's anti-money laundering procedures and/or guidance. The Member may also implement internal reporting mechanism and have threshold limits for each class of customers and pay special attention to the transaction which exceeds these limits.

2.7 The Member should ensure that a record of transactions is preserved and maintained for a period of ten years and that any transaction of suspicious nature is reported to the appropriate regulatory / other authority.

d. Tracking and Reporting Suspicious Transactions

2.8 It is emphasized that considering the sensitivity of the issue, the suspicious transaction reporting should be taken up with utmost care and seriousness. Members should ensure to take appropriate steps to enable suspicious transactions be recorded. They should have appropriate internal procedures for reporting of suspicious transactions. Indicative list of circumstances/ profile of the customer is indicated below to serve as a guidance to the Members for recognizing them:

- i) Clients whose verification is complex and not confirmed from other sources
- ii) Substantial increases in turnover without any reason;
- iii) large cash deposits made with the Members;

2.9 The suspicious transaction should be immediately notified to the Principal Officer or any other designated officer of the Member.
